

Major (Ret.) Arthur Dean Swift

Year of Commission: 1940

BA in Political Science

MAJ Swift served in World War II in the 345th Field Artillery Regiment, 90th Infantry Division In the European Theater of Operations. As a captain, he served as a Battery Commander and Battalion Intelligence Officer during his time in combat. His unit's action supported many different divisions including the 82nd Airborne Division near the town of Ste Mere Eglise on 9th June, 1944. He earned two Bronze Star Medals for his actions in Europe. After the war, A. Dean Swift worked his way up the corporate ladder at Sears Roebuck & Company with his career culminating as the president of the Company from 1972 until his retirement in 1980.

Year Inducted: 2013